Conscience

“the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts now accusing them...”

Romans 2 vs. 15
